FIVE KILLED IN N. JERSEY FOREST FIRE

Blaze Near Summer Resorts is Under Control Today

New Gretna, N. J., May 26.—(AP)—A south Jersey forest fire, in which five lost their lives, was brought under control today after more than 750 men fought it on a wide front for 48 hours.

As the fire was brought under control a final check of the crews showed that all were accounted for. At one time a number of CCC workers had been reported missing but they were found on the fire lines.

One Danger Spot.

Only one danger spot remained near Manahawkin and men were brought by truck to meet the threat. The state forest fighting service called the fire "the worst in its history," and estimated it had ravaged 15,000 acres.

The dead:

John T. LaSalle, 20, New Brunswick.

Edward F. Sullivan, 20, New Brunswick.

Stanley Carr, 22, Waretown.

Kingsley White, 38, Whiteville.

Ira Morey, West Creek.

Fire Wardens Found.

LaSalle, Sullivan and Carr were members of the CCC camp at Bass Lake. Morey was a state fire fighter and White was a civilian.

LaSalle and Sullivan entered the forest just two weeks ago today while Carr had been there a year.

Two fire wardens, Benjamin Broome and Henry Updyke, both of New Gretna, reported missing, were found unhurt as searching parties began a hunt through the still-smoldering woodlands for possible further victims.

The triangular area swept by the flames lies just north of Atlantic City and neighboring summer resorts, and south of Asbury Park and other seashore vacation places to the north. The sandy plain is covered with pine woods and contains two state forests. The little hamlets in the area were saved from the flames by the fire fighters but no one knew the fate of numerous small cottages and homes isolated in the woodlands.

Col. Leonidas Coyie, the flying fireman who is chief state fire warden, directed the fight from an airplane.

Three unidentified.

W. H. Clarke, General Airways pilot, veteran flier and aviation pioneer in the northern mining country of Quebec province.

George Millhan, mechanic.

Four passengers, three of them unidentified and the fourth reported from Rouyn to be Leo Springer, prominent mining man and head of Ceres Explorations, Limited. The other passengers were understood to be prospectors taken aboard the plane at Father Lake and Presqu'ile to join Springer's inspection party.

Aviators were inclined to attribute the crash to Sunday's adverse flying conditions, but government and General Airways officials hastened to the scene for an inquiry.

50 YEARS FOR ROBBERS.

Dallas, Tex.—Blackie Doyle, wanted in Illinois in connection with the kidnaping of August Luer, Alton, Ill., pleaded guilty to charges of robbing the Borden Milk Company of $1,500 and was sentenced to 50 years in prison by Judge Norland Williams. David Sherman, his companion, entered a similar plea and received the same sentence. The robbery took place April 6, and the two were arrested three days later.

Mrs. Bonfils, who was 72 years old, spent the last 35 years of her 46 year newspaper career in San Francisco. She was connected for 37 years with the Hearst newspapers.

A native of Chilton, Wis., she was educated at Chicago and Northampton, Mass. She married Orlow Black, a newspaperman, in 1892 and after his death she married Charles A. Bonfils of Denver, who survives her.

Pajama-Nightie Dispute Reaches Showdown Soon

San Diego, May 26.—(AP)—The pajama-nightie dispute is slated for settlement at the exposition next week. A "sleeping garment derby"—a clock-winding lamp extinguishing, cat-potting dash of 99 yards—will be judged by a committee of married women.

Said F. Gilbert Bowker, head of one faction: "Nightshirts best on a man the dignity of a Roman senator."

Refuted E. H. Ratham, leader of the pajama clan: "We shall see what we shall see."

Wants Lowden

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Robert H. Lucas, former executive director of the Republican national committee, urged Republican convention delegates today to choose former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois for permanent chairman. The latter is now abroad.

Proposing a revolt against the arrangements committee's proposal that the post go to Representative Snell of New York, Lucas said in a circular letter that Lowden had "the confidence of the country" and was "not controlled and can not be influenced by the special interests."

Lucas, who is a Kentucky delegate, said that a "defeatist psychology is creeping over the Republican party" owing to "the absence of able, unselfish, courageous and fighting leadership."

Both Plans Fail Short

Both the revenue measure passed by the House and the plan so far molded by the finance group fall short of the president's request for $620,000,000 of permanent and $517,000,000 of temporary revenue.

Just before the White House conference was summoned, a finance subcommittee agreed unanimously to recommend against including a proposed tax of one-half cent a pound on sugar in the new tax bill.

Subcommittee members said too many complicating factors were involved to permit carrying the excise levy in the revenue bill, even though it would raise around $66,000,000 and lift the total estimated yield of the measure to about the $620,000,000 of permanent funds requested by President Roosevelt.

Rep. Cummings (D-Colo.) testified such a levy would place a $15,840,000 burden on farmers.

He urged that no action be taken on the sugar tax unless it were attached to a new bill to re-establish the sugar quota system.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said it would be "unfair to pick out sugar as the only commodity to be penalized under this (tax) bill."

Townsend's Defiance of House Committee Emulated by Two of His Leaders in Pension Scheme

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Dr. F. F. Townsend's defiant attitude toward a house investigating committee was emulated today by two of his old age pension leaders who failed to appear when they were called for questioning.

Chairman Bell (D-Mo) called for John Kiefer of Chicago and the Rev. Clinton Wunder of New York when he opened today's hearing. Neither answered.

Bell noted for the record that both were under subpoena to appear today before the committee.

The chairman then took newsmen a closed session of the committee this morning failed to change the situation in regard to action against Dr. Townsend for his walkout last Thursday and refusal to testify further.

Both Kiefer and Wunder were among those officials of the organization whom Townsend had instructed not to testify.

In a surprise move, Bell then called Representative McGroarty (D-Cal) one-time leader of the house Townsend bloc.

Questioning of McGroarty developed that he introduced bills embodying the principles of the Townsend plan for a transaction tax to raise funds for a $200 monthly pension to the aged.

F. D. R. ARRANGES CONFERENCE ON TAXES IMPASSE

Finance Committee Can't Agree On a Compromise

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—A conference on taxes was arranged by President Roosevelt for tonight with Democratic members of the senate finance committee.

The White House said the meeting would be held at 8 P. M. at the request of Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) who telephoned the president during the forenoon asking him to see the Democratic members of the committee.

A slight indisposition kept Harrison from today's meeting of his group.

The finance committee has been unable so far to reach an agreement on the revenue bill, although it has departed far from Roosevelt's suggestions for a new corporate tax system based on undistributed profits.

Both Plans Fail Short

Both the revenue measure passed by the House and the plan so far molded by the finance group fall short of the president's request for $620,000,000 of permanent and $517,000,000 of temporary revenue.

Late Mrs. R. L. Johnson's $10,000 Gift to a Chicago Church is Revealed Today

Dr. Preston Bradley Tells of Her Generosity

Mrs. Ronald L. Johnson, whose death occurred Saturday afternoon at her home, 215 East Second street, during the past ten days had made a present of $10,000 in government bonds to the People's church in Chicago, according to information disclosed in an announcement given out by Dr. Preston Bradley of the church at the close of Mrs. Johnson's funeral service today.

Mrs. Johnson had been a member of the People's church for a number of years and was a faithful listener to Dr. Bradley's radio sermons. He was summoned to Dixon from a speaking engagement at Beloit, Wis., about two weeks ago by Mrs. Johnson, who upon his arrival, informed him of her intention of making a gift of $10,000 to the church. The sum was to be used in defraying a long time debt on the organ in the church. Dr. Bradley stated here this afternoon, and is to be used for that purpose only. The bonds were delivered to Thomas H. Harrison, treasurer of the church organization during the past week.

To Dedicate Tablet

Dr. Bradley stated at the close of the funeral today that a dedicatory service will be held at the People's church in Chicago Sunday, June 14, at which time a tablet bearing pictures of both Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Johnson will be unveiled and the organ will be dedicated as the Johnson Memorial organ. Referring to other bequests which were reported to have been made locally, Dr. Bradley stated that he had heard some of these mentioned, but was unable to name the beneficiaries.

The Johnson home was crowded to its capacity when Dr. Bradley arrived from Chicago a few minutes before 11 o'clock this morning to conduct the final rites. It was at Mrs. Johnson's personal request that he officiate at this service. He delivered a poem, "Friends Buried," which he dedicated as his personal tribute to the deceased.

Dr. Bradley said that Mrs. Johnson had been a constant listener to his radio lectures for a period of years, and her daily life was an inspiration of what the church meant to her. She had held membership in the People's church for many years, he said.

At Oakwood Memorial mausoleum Dr. Bradley paid a brief tribute and recited a short prayer. He left immediately after the service for Duluth, Minn. Casket carriers were Dr. L. R. Trowbridge, Dan Tice, Earl Buck, Roy Schell, Wilkie McCoy and Joseph Staples.

Negro Wanted for Beloit Murder is Found in St. Louis

St. Louis, May 26.—(AP)—A Negro, arrested for investigation in connection with a robbery, was identified through his fingerprints today, Chief of Detectives James J. Carroll said, as a man sought since May 27, 1935, for the slaying of a Beloit, Wis., policeman.

Carroll said the Negro admitted his name was William Mosley and that Beloit police were seeking him, but denied he had slain the officer.

A circular from the Beloit police said the Negro shot and killed Patrolman Fred Samp after the officer had placed him under arrest for investigation.

Playboy Zioncheck Finds Life in New York Too Tame, He Says, After Wild Time at Night Club

New York, May 26.—(AP)—It was a weary little bride who persuaded Marion Zioncheck, Seattle congressman, to return to their hotel today after three hours of "cutting up" at an Upper Manhattan open air night club.

But Zioncheck wasn't tired. "New York is too tame for me," was his parting shot as he followed his 21-year-old wife into the taxi.

Zioncheck whirled his wife around the dance floor, holding her by her wavy auburn hair in certain of his terpsichorean exhibitions.

The night club impresario, admittedly worried, ordered his orchestra to play slower music. That didn't help much. Other dancers scattered for safety when the Zionchecks finally got down to serious dancing.

Then the club's specialty "strip" dancer appeared. As Madge Carmyle, a stately blonde, was leaving the floor after her "negligee dance" Zioncheck rushed up, pleading for a dance. Lewis Leon, one of the managers of the club, finally persuaded him to dance with his wife instead.

It was Zioncheck's first night out in New York after his cruise to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

LABOR TROUBLE IN SEVERAL BIG CITIES WATCHED

By the Associated Press

Police began a quiet watch over six plants of Remington Rand Inc., in the east and middle west today as a strike call was handed to workers estimated at 6,000 by labor leaders and 4,200 by the company.

Precautionary measures were requested from police and National Guard officials in more than half dozen sections of the country as labor troubles either got under way or threatened among industrial and agricultural workers.

Only a few scattered instances of trouble in the strike centers were reported by police. Gun fights between strikers and workers led to 15 more arrests in the vegetable fields of southern California.

Few Arrests Made

A few arrests for allegedly passing out Communist literature were made as picketers took up their posts at Remington Rand plants at Syracuse, Lion and Tonawanda, N. Y. Strikes also were called at the company plants at Middletown, Conn., and Norwood and Marietta, Ohio. Police guards at Lion were armed with tear gas.

Strike leaders said they asked the police to stop the distribution of Communist literature at their labor meetings, at the same time claiming that "everybody is out."

James H. Rand, Jr., president of the company, announced that the Syracuse plant would be closed permanently and strong efforts made to keep the others open. "Less than 10 per cent of our employees want to strike," he said.

Pleads Guilty

Chicago, May 26.—(AP)—Thomas Starr, 29-year-old Negro rag picker and former circus roustabout, pleaded guilty today to both the brick gulling of Mrs. Lillian Guild, 59, in her Y. W. C. A. room May 9 and to an attempted attack upon Miss Lois Rickett, 20, in the St. Luke's hospital nurse's home five days later.

Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the felony court ordered him held to the grand jury on charges of murder and attempted rape.

Starr was held without bond on the murder charge and in $25,000 bond on the attempted assault charge.

Guard Ohio Plants

At Akron, O., three Ohio National Guard officers watched the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company plants following the latest in a series of "sitdown" protests.

The "sitdown" started yesterday following the arrest of more than a score of union rubber workers on charging violation of the Ohio anti-rioting statute in connection with a previous demonstration at the plant. Yesterday's "sitdown" lasted only a few hours.

Possibility of National Guard intervention hung over Portsmouth, O., as the Wheeling Steel Corp. paid off employees at its downtown offices and federal authorities admitted mediation in the four-day-old strike affecting 5,500 workers appeared remote.

Sporadic fights, with more than a score of men treated for minor injuries, marked the walkout.

SIX MILLION MEMBERS IN U. S. CLAIMED

25 Warrants Issued Today in Michigan's Drive

Detroit, May 26.—(AP)—The "war of extermination" on the Black Legion brought 25 warrants charging kidnaping and felonious assault in Jackson today against members of the secret hooded order accused of stripping and flogging a relief worker who refused to join.

A grand jury investigation in every county in the state where crimes can be traced to the Black Legion was announced by Attorney General David H. Crowley in Lansing as state and county investigators saw evidence of the terrorist society's defiance of the "united front" drive to uproot it in an incendiary fire near Jackson.

Acting with speed that matched that of authorities of Detroit in charging 13 members with the slaying of Charles A. Poole, Prosecutor Owen Dudley of Jackson swore out warrants today against three guards at the Southern Michigan prison, a resident of Norville, and 31 "John Does" accused of participation in the beating last Nov. 5 of Harvey Smith, father of five children.

Two Prison Guards

The men accused were Ray Ernest, said by Dudley to be a "brigadier general" in the terrorists' band, his brothers Glen and Clarence, and Allen Bascom. The Ernest brothers are guards at the prison.

Acting on suspicion that fire which destroyed a barn and out-buildings on the estate of George Noon near Jackson might have been the result of Black Legion arson, state police sped to the scene a short time after they had disrupted an attempt by six carloaders of vigilantes to conduct a meeting in the woods near there.

Wayne county authorities today raided five homes in the down river district here and found what they claimed was evidence that two recent bombings in Ecorse were inspired by the black robed band.

Fire Arms Seized

In the homes, which included those of two former Ecorse councilmen, the raiders seized fire arms and literature of the organization.

Coincident with the raids came a statement from V. F. Effinger of Lima, Ohio, who had been sought for questioning by Prosecutor Duncan C. McGree that the Black Legion had more than 6,000,000 members throughout the United States and that it had no intention of trying to take over the government.

Aspirations of obtaining a governmental dictatorship were attributed to the order by Harry Colburn, chief investigator for the Wayne county (Detroit) prosecuting attorney's office.

coming irked at the delay of his companions in bringing a rope intended for a "necktie party."

While county authorities continued their investigation here, additional inquiries proceeded at Flint, Pontiac and Jackson, called centers of Black Legion activity by the investigators, while in Lansing the state capital, Attorney General David H. Crowley conferred with Oscar G. Olander, state commissioner of public safety, to add the force of the state authority to the drive which all investigating agencies have said is designed to "exterminate" the secret vigilante society.

G-Men Not Active
 Reports that the federal government might enter the investigation were denied at Washington by J. Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation. He said no "federal angle" had been brought to the bureau's attention.

At Jackson, Mich., Prosecutor Owen Dudley said developments were imminent in a "John Doe" inquiry into charges that Paul Every, state prison guard, was beaten so severely that he died six weeks later, when he attempted to withdraw from the Black Legion.

Dudley said testimony of witnesses indicated that virtually every prison guard had been approached by Black Legion recruiting agents.

"Apparently the legion considered the guards a fertile field because they are accustomed to the use of firearms," Dudley said.

Among the membership requirements contained in Black Legion literature seized in Jackson were possession of a pistol, and willingness to use it on orders from superior officers.

LOST GENERATIONS

By Joseph Fort Newton
MAXINE Davis tells us what the depression has done to youth. She went all over the country talking to all sorts and conditions of young folk, and gives a pitiless report of her findings.

It is a heart-breaking book, to read which is to be made sick of soul, as much by the facts revealed as by the state of mind revealed. Here is a casebook of frustration, fatalism, and futility. "Youth today," she finds, "accepts its fate with sheep-like apathy. It wants a lift; if it does not get it, it just sits, marking time while the clock ticks off the bright years, the best years."

It is ghastly, boys and girls hitch-hiking from nowhere to nowhere because there is nowhere to go—no more frontier, no job, no future, just a dull drifting "straying aimlessly toward middle age."

Those who were fortunate enough to stay in school during the depression years, or were lucky enough to be born later, may have some chance. But those who graduated in 1932 seem to be lost. To be sure, much has been done for the young, but that is not what they ask or want. They want a chance to do for themselves; and that has been denied in a land of prodigious abundance and opportunity.

The paradox of it all is appalling; the indictment of human stupidity is eloquent beyond words. Youth does not want revolution; it wants to live and work and

One generation lost in the World War; another generation lost in the world depression. When will our alleged civilization cease to be Moloch devouring the young?

"Keep the younger generation in hell," cried George Meredith; "bequeath to them no tumbled house." But we have failed to do it, thinking too much of "the immediate money," and forgetting the future. What will the lost generations do and say when the day of reckoning arrives, as arrive it will? Who can add up the losses to society and to the future in two lost generations of radiant youth? (Copyright, 1936, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Closing Garrison School Featured By Enjoyable Picnic

The Garrison school, district 26, taught by Miss Vivian G. Lowry, closed Tuesday, May 19. Despite the busy time of year, many parents, neighbors and friends gathered at noon and enjoyed a picnic dinner, followed by the serving of ice cream.

Helen Jane Coleman had the highest record of attendance throughout the year, while Elmer Hodges had second highest. The pupils did commendable health work during the school term, Lois Heckman and Charles Wakeley having been winners of prizes. Robert Hintz was awarded a perfect attendance pin covering a period of 30 months, while Lois Heckman and Gilbert Sheffer received Reading Circle pins for having each read 15 approved books. During the year grades 2, 4, 6 and 8 handed in 65 written Reading Circle reports on approved books which the teacher secured from the Dixon public library. Eighteen books were read to grades one and two, other than their individual silent reading.

Charlene Wakeley, a second grade pupil, deserves honorable mention for her excellent work in spelling, having had perfect lessons since beginning that subject in the first grade. The graduates of the school for this year are Helen Jane Coleman, Marvin Mundorf, Gilbert Sheffer, and Dwight Hintz.

Woman's Club Spring Luncheon Delightful Affair

The Dixon Woman's Club held their annual spring luncheon Saturday, May 23, at the Masonic Temple with more than 100 members and guests present.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of the Social Committee consisting of Mesdames Harry Edwards, Lancaster, Coppin, Murray, Raffenberg, Bills, Wadsworth, C. Hanson Glotter.

The tables were decorated to represent various departments of the club and a profusion of spring flowers added charm to the occasion.

The program was varied interesting and instructive and the departments of the club each contributed in some way.

Mrs. Emma Stiles in her charming manner favored the club with two songs. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Dwight Chapman.

The Public Welfare and Child Hygiene Department presented a short play entitled "My Son John". Mrs. Orville Westgate, accompanied by Mrs. Chapman at the piano contributed a beautiful violin solo, "The Indian Lament," for the Indian Welfare Department.

The Art Department exhibited a number of lovely paintings by local artists, and a portfolio of etchings.

The Education Department, introduced William Thompson, a high school student, who in a very clever manner explained the process of high school elections for city officers. How the primary is conducted and how much the one day means to the students who run the city government.

The American Citizenship Department exhibited a mural made by the students of the E. C. Smith school depicting Service, Courage, Honor, Scholarship and Leadership. They also presented an original dialogue.

The club next enjoyed a song by Mrs. R. H. Harridge accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Edwards.

The literature and library extension department presented a play, "The Amateur Analyst," written by Miss Bernice Horton, which had won first place in the state contest. The play was acted in a very creditable manner by four high school students, Misses Shaw and Eichler and Messrs. Thompson and Auman, and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

At the close of the program the president, Mrs. Bowers presented the forty new members to the club.

Duty Without Reward Is Often the Most Important

By Olive Roberts Barton

"It's all right, Jerry, don't feel too badly. Grandma comfortable and she'll be around in no time. No bones are broken. She is just bruised and scratched a little, that's all."

"It's all my fault, anyway. I meant to fix that board, but the kids kept calling me for something or other. And besides it looked like such a teeny weeny thing to worry over. Why I could jump a ditch five times that wide. What was Grandma doing, anyway?"

"Getting carrots out of the garden for dinner. The board was rotten and she went down."

"Say, Mom, it's kinda funny. I tell you what I was doing when Grandma got hurt. Earl's baby sister's swing needed a new hook and we went to the store and got one and screwed it in tight. And Mrs. Jones said I was a fine boy for helping—I was the nicest boy she knew, and I came home feeling fine and then here was Grandma laid up and everybody looked right at me. Dad called me everything for not getting that new board. Grandma'll say it's all right because she would let me cut off her head and wouldn't squeal. I hate to go and tell her I'm sorry. She'll just pat me and say I'm a grand boy, and I'll snifle and—well, you know."

Philanthropy Versus Duty

"Jerry, you are sermonizing. It's a good sign. Nobody needs to talk to a chap who can think for himself."

"I just think things happen kind of funny, that's all. I was trying to help somebody and then I get the dev—fits."

His mother smiled at he dejected figure, jaws-in-hands over bent knees. "Can you take it if I say something?"

"Fire away."

"I just want to explain now that your mind's on it. There are two kinds of duty. One that gets you praise and notice, and one that nobody sees or cares about. I know a lady who is praised all over town because she works so hard on boards. Not your kind, the other kind. Everyone makes an awful fuss when they see her. She's called 'benevolent' or 'philanthropic'."

"But actually her family is not happy. Her husband tries to hide his cuffs, and the girls' heads need letting down. They live on cold cuts and all gather in the kitchen to do the dishes once a day. The little brother roams the streets and the neighbors look after him. This is a very nice lady, and she is in real earnest about doing good. But a few of us think she is mistaken, that's all. We think she chose the wrong kind of duty. Or at least she should attend to her home first."

"I'm not a show-off, Mom."

"Courting Public Favor."

"I know. But praise is sweet. And opinion means a lot. Bing Smith wouldn't take a job at the gas station to help his mother out. Instead he is helping Mr. Pratt with his books for nothing because he says 'the poor old fellow has been sick and he has no son'."

The whole town thinks he is a fine fellow now. See?"

"Um, I guess you kind of have to mix it."

"That's it, and do things nobody gives you credit for."

"Things make an awful lot of words, don't they?"

"Always. It seems that you are blamed if you do and you're blamed if you don't in this world. It is best to think instead of talk, however. Now go up and get your hat. And don't bawl."

NO ESCAPE IN LAW OR FAIR DEALING

On occasion of review of the Illinois reserve officers training corps at Urbana, President Arthur C. Willard, of the university, said:

"As one of the state universities created pursuant to the federal land grant act of 1862, the University of Illinois has had a program of military training since it opened in 1868. Colleges and universities which receive federal funds are obligated to make provision for training for the national defense. There is no escape from that obligation either in law or in fair dealing.

"The authorities of the University of Illinois have always held that that obligation could be best met by a program of military training which was required rather than voluntary. Indeed, it is required under the laws of Illinois establishing the university."

No mention was made of the propaganda of socialists working either as such or through church organizations, against military training in state universities, but the president's forthright statement may be interpreted as a reply to those who make objection.

It should be said for the University of Illinois that little progress has been made by the objectors. The university has had a strong military organization, has created a patriotic atmosphere, and is in contrast to institutions where communism is rampant and is promoted by faculty members.

"There is no escape from that obligation either in law or in fair dealing," is a fair statement of the case. The obligation rests just as strongly upon one male student as upon another. Fairness alone rules out the proposal that the military service be made a voluntary matter.

TOWNSEND'S CONTEMPT

Dr. Francis E. Townsend is proving to be a hot potato for the congressional committee that has been investigating the financial end of the Townsend pension movement. The doctor submitted to the characteristic line of questions from congressional persecutors and then stalked out of the committee room. Speaker Byrns and Chairman Bell of the offended subcommittee talk of instituting proceedings against him for his showing of contempt for the committee and indirectly for the house of representatives, but members have been slow to act.

Townsend himself issued a tantalizing statement that if the house did act, instead of holding the trial itself it would pass the buck to the courts.

The doctor has no greater contempt for these prosecuting committees than many more citizens have. Perhaps they could put them in jail for what they think of them.

The Townsend issue was being pressed upon members of congress. Instead of meeting it in a manly way, discussing the merits of it and voting upon it, they set about their characteristic proceedings of seeking to solve a difficulty by throwing mud upon some one. That method is authorizing a congressional investigation, the summoning of witnesses, browbeating them, seizing their personal effects, and all this without the persons involved being given the protection always provided in criminal courts, high or low. These investigations are used not merely to convict the objects of their spite, but to browbeat them and to compel them to furnish the evidence to convict themselves, something no court requires.

If Dr. Townsend has violated any law, let him be prosecuted in the courts. Let the grand jury conduct the investigation. Why should senate and house committees set themselves up as grand juries and then pursue their own indictments with prosecutions and persecutions?

When persons are adjudged in contempt of court, there is likely to be good ground for the finding. There is the further fact that nearly all courts so conduct themselves that they are entitled to public esteem and should not be treated contemptuously.

On the other hand, senatorial and other congressional committees that have started out to blacken some one in order to accord favorable returns to the inquisitor have, many believe, earned the contempt in which they are held.

CLEANSED

The democratic national committee issues a bulletin of press matter, and on a recent sheet is a suggested editorial.

You might guess that it is a tirade against Wall Street, a blast at entrenched greed, a repetition of the Roosevelt condemnation of the money changers.

No. It calls from the housetops that major policies of the Roosevelt administration have been endorsed by "a partner in the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co."

Business men have left the New Deal ship by the boatload, after having taken an important part in launching it. But the democratic national committee has found a boy standing on the burning deck whence all but him had fled, and the publicity sheet carries the urge that New Deal newspapers write about it.

It is a little difficult to make readers understand that a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., bankers, is pure in his endorsement of New Deal policies, while all bankers who oppose them are massed and entrenched greed, wicked money changers, and public enemies.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

"Hey, just what is this all about?" the Timmes heard wee Duncy shout. "The pelicans have left us. We are in an awful plight."

"We should have stayed upon the ground, instead of sailing all around. We will be lucky, this time, if this mess turns out all right."

Then Doty snapped, "That's just like you. You never think we will pull through when we're in some predicament. I am not going to fret."

"The bird said we would have some fun, so please be patient, everyone! The shoreline is not far from here. We'll reach there soon, I'll bet."

"Of course we will," said Scouty. "Gee, this sort of thing appeals to me. We're heading for a new land. There will be real sights, I know."

"The waves are kicking up a row, but we will ride along, somehow, as long as we hang on. One of the big birds told us so."

For quite a while no word was said. The seat they sat in rode ahead, now rising on a high wave, and then falling with a thump.

"Oh, my," yelled Goldy. "What a thrill. I thought that we would take a spill. 'Bout every other second, all we get is bump, bump, bump."

"I guess I'll jump right off and swim," wee Windy cried. "I feel in trim." "Oh, please don't," answered Doty. "Stay with us and stick to it."

"The handy beach is near at hand and on it this seat soon will land. Why, shortly, we'll be running 'round, chock full of glee, no doubt."

Just then a big wave came along, pushed by a breeze that seemed real strong. The seat rose high into the air. The surf began to roar.

And then the wave broke. Came a shout, as all the Timmes were dumped out. The next thing that

Cooking School To Solve Home Problems of Day

Mrs. Housewife, attention please!

You are invited to be the guest of the Dixon Telegraph at the complete four-day course of "Foods on Parade," 1935-36 Edition, which will be presented at the Schuler hall for four days, beginning June 2.

This cooking school de luxe is in line with the policy of the Telegraph to be of utmost service to its readers. We know, from letters written to our various departments, the problems which confront the housewife in these times when budgets are limited and food prices are rising. We know the desire of the women of Dixon to prepare good food for their families without extravagance.

Intensely Practical

The instruction and demonstrations to be given by Miss Lucile Harris during the four days of this fine cooking school will be of great assistance in solving these problems. While "Foods on Parade" is a dramatic and colorful presentation, it is as practical and "down to earth" as the most thrifty housewife can desire. This is evidenced by the fact that special attention is paid to the selection and preparation of meat, that important item in the current household budget.

The latest and best methods of cooking all kinds of meat are demonstrated, with special attention given to the less demanded and therefore more economical cuts. Unexpected ways of balancing the budget are shown, through the use of cuts high in food value but low in cost.

Miss Harris speaks with authority on this subject for she is a member of the staff of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, well known educational and research organization. She is a college graduate, home economics expert and dietitian. She is an experienced and very interesting lecturer. Above all she is a good cook, and she knows the problems which confront the average housewife in her own kitchen.

To Cook 74 Dishes!

She will prove her ability as a cook by demonstrating just how each of the 74 recipes on the program is prepared, showing each step along the way and displaying the finished product against a mirror background in the charming and unusual "Foods on Parade," which concludes each day's session. Then she will give away the dishes to fortunate members of the audience who can thus find out for themselves that the dishes are truly "good enough to eat."

The youngsters knew, they landed on the shore.

Egyptians once paid taxes according to the rise of the Nile river. The rise was great, crops would be plentiful, and the people could pay higher taxes. Marked poles were erected for measuring the exact water level.

Poet's Widow May Save Home

Learning that this picturesque home of Mrs. Eugene Field, at Crystal Lake, near Heafford Junction, Wis., was to be sold under a mortgage foreclosure judgment, fraternity brothers of the beloved children's poet rallied to the aid of his 80-year-old widow with an offer of $3000 to satisfy the judgment. Mrs. Field, who, with Eugene II, her son, has developed the home and 155-acre estate since its purchase in 1921, is seriously ill from heart attacks. Eugene Field, Sr., died in 1895.

OHIO STRIKERS ASK PROTECTION STATE TROOPERS

Portsmouth, O., May 25.—(AP)—Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers asked Gov. Martin L. Davey today to send National Guardsmen here to protect union workers who went on strike Friday.

Two telegraphic requests were received by the governor at Columbus. Both contained charges that Sheriff Arthur Oakes, of Scioto county (Portsmouth) was not affording proper protection.

Davey's office turned over the telegrams to Adj. Gen. Marx, who said he intended to get in touch with the sheriff.

Pickets surrounding the plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation kept the mills idle as they awaited the outcome of conferences scheduled by a Federal mediator with union leaders who claim to represent 3,500 of the 5,500 employees.

Authority of the national labor relations board was an issue in the strike, called Friday night after two years of disagreement between company officials and the amalgamated workers.

The union contends that last November the board ordered the Wheeling company to "desist coercing the amalgamated," abandon support of 17 departmental company councils, and reinstate a discharged employee. This, the union leaders said, has not been done.

To be a tight rope walker was Jean Arthur's earliest ambition. She's contented with being in the movies now, however.

RURAL BANKERS AGENTS MET IN DIXON MONDAY

Ray Kline Honor Guest at Surprise Luncheon at Elks Club

Ray S. Kline of Dixon, agency supervisor for the Rural Bankers Life Insurance Company, was the guest of a surprise luncheon at the Elks club Monday noon which was attended by officers and members of the sales force and their ladies, numbering more than a hundred. The occasion concluded a 60 day contest sponsored by Mr. Kline in his district, starting on April 1 and closing yesterday. Judge John V. Sees, president of the company, was one of the distinguished visitors present and in his address, announced that 14 agents under Mr. Kline's jurisdiction had written $781,500 of insurance, an average of better than $65,000 each during the contest period.

C. A. Mellett of this city opened the program which followed the sumptuous banquet served at the Elks club by the Elks ladies and introduced Arthur Sepe of Huntington, Ind., toastmaster of the afternoon. C. A. Mellett of Rockford led the campaign by writing $100,000 worth of new insurance, for which he received a beautiful engraved efficiency certificate and other awards for his efforts.

The guest of honor was very brief in responding to his introduction to the gathering and paid tribute to the agents for the honest campaign of salesmanship, declining any honor for himself. At the conclusion of his talk, Jacob Temple of Fulton, holder of certificate No. 1, was introduced.

Principal Address.
President Sees of Huntington, Ind., gave the principal address of the afternoon.

"Life insurance," he said in his opening statement, "is one of the most widely distributed and least understood things in the world. The general public is not to be blamed for its lack of knowledge of life insurance as some of the agents are not totally aware of its importance."

"He cited the National Underwriter of last week, in which it was stated that $6 billion dollars of life insurance has been developed within the past five years, and followed this by quoting interesting figures in the American insurance world gathered over that period. Referring to some standards of insurance business, President Sees said:

"It is bad enough for these institutions to take the public's money, then invest it in a manner in which the public loses a large part or all of it, but the worst feature of insurance today I believe is the loan feature. Recent statistics have shown that policy holders owe the insurance companies about three billion dollars borrowed on life insurance policies. About 75 per cent of the people who borrow on their life insurance policies, lose the policies, as quoted by the president of one of the largest of the American companies. During the last few years there has been a rush on the part of some business men to hand over their money to life insurance companies as an investment. The loan feature on life insurance policies defeats the protection feature which should be first and foremost, and there is another danger in the investments of enormous profits companies have made."

For Pure Protection.
"Pure protection life insurance purchased at the lowest possible cost as to safety is the best insurance today. I believe that there is to be a rush of confidence in insurance in our field of life insurance. Our company has lived up to its provisions and expectations. It was carefully organized and started and continues today under the same careful selection. Underwriting must be good or the agency will not last. Our company is growing steadily and is not investing in wild or unsafe speculations and investments. I am of the belief that laws should be passed which would prevent this method of speculation with the funds of policy holders, and which would provide insurance at a reasonable cost to those who are most entitled to share its benefits."

Several of the agents who had led in the contest were rewarded for their efforts. Willard Andrews of Sterling and J. P. Harley of LaSalle, each of whom produced $72,000 of new business during the periods led the list. Mr. Andrews was presented with a beautiful porch glider and Mr. Harley with a suit of clothes. C. A. Nichols of Rockford was the recipient of special honor. R. C. Caldwell of the DeKalb and Princeton agencies, F. P. Terrain of Chicago and Arthur Scofield of Aurora were presented with fine tool leather brief cases. Mr. Kline was then presented with a complete traveling case and a fine safety razor by Judge Sees, who said:

"Our company cannot pay for his loyalty and devotion and can only express our appreciation in this manner."

Dr. S. S. Wirth of Evanston, chief medical examiner, gave an instructive talk to the agents. Attorney Robert L. Backen of this city, vice president of the company congratulated Mr. Kline upon his success and stated that he was "the most valuable of the officers of the company. George Prescott presented the three new members of the board of directors who have been selected since the last meeting as follows: Mrs. Eustace Shaw and John E. Moyer of Dixon and Charles Schoof of Rock Falls. A brief meeting of the officers and agents was held at the conclusion of the fine program."

ENGLISH DERBY FIELD REDUCED

Strangest and Most Wide-Open Race Is Pictured

Epsom Downs, Eng., May 26.—(AP)—The field for the Derby to be run here tomorrow was reduced to 24 today when three scheduled starters were scratched. Lord Astor's Plastercast, Dorothy Paget's Ormshead and Lady Ludlow's Star Comedian were dropped from the running.

The scratches of William Woodward's American-owned Flares and the Duke of Marlboro's Monument further reduced the field to 22. Woodward's colors will be carried by Boswell. At the last call over of betting odds yesterday Boswell was heavily played and held at 21 to 2, making him the fourth choice in the betting.

Derby addicts, back to the old times, unanimously nominate tomorrow's renewal of England's famous three-year-old classic as the strangest and most wide-open race in their memory.

When the field tears away from the tape for the mile and one-half journey, over a track that bucks and rolls like the sea, there'll naturally be a favorite in the Aga Khan's Taj Akbar. Yet there's no more rhyme or reason in his excited position than there is to the prophecies handed out by the gypsies, who are thickly tended in the infield.

There is even less justification for the status enjoyed by several of his closest rivals in the betting list. As the result of the absence of a really outstanding three-year-old, like Bahram last year, the bookmakers, who are as puzzled as anybody else, simply let the clients name their own poison.

Excitement Typical.
Yesterday's exciting flurry over William Woodward's Boswell, one of the pair entered by the New York banker, was a typical situation where one's guess is as good as another. Only a month ago Taj Akbar was ignored at 50-1. He's the favorite now partly because he won one race over the Derby distance and partly because he will be ridden by Gordon Richards, England's No. 1 jockey who has yet to win a Derby.

Lord Astor's Pay Up, the second choice, owes his position to the fact that he captured the season's first classic, the 2,000 guineas at Newmarket. Yet that was only a mile race and Pay Up has yet to prove him stamina over the Derby route.

Sir Alfred Butt's Noble King holds his position as the third choice principally because he has proved to be a good stayer over a heavy track. There's little prospect for such a racing strip, tomorrow, however, although rain

HOLY LAND DIS- ORDER BECOMES OPEN CONFLICT

British Soldiers and Police Forced To Fire on Arabs

Jerusalem, May 26.—(AP)—The long-smoldering Holy Land Arab anti-Jewish disorders developed today into open, armed conflict between Arabs and British soldiers and police.

British forces, campaigning to restore order after 40 days of violence in which at least 50 persons have been killed, fought two engagements, dispersing a mob of 200 Arabs in one clash but withdrawing before an Arab advance in the other.

The British High Commissioner for Palestine, Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchoppe, in an address at the Levant fair, warned terrorists: "No strike, no violence can deter the government from fulfilling its obligations under the League of Nations mandate."

The high commissioner expressed belief the Arab general strike and demonstrations against Jewish immigration to the Holy Land were only temporary.

Conflict Spreading.
The conflict appeared to be spreading up and down the land. Jesus of Nazareth once trod, however, as fresh reports of disorders came to the British administration.

Police were forced to retire from their positions at the foot of Mount Tabor, east of Nazareth, when their ammunition ran out early today after a long gun battle.

The police fell back in a strategic retreat upon observing a party of some 250 Arabs, armed with rifles, bearing down upon them from the front and the flanks.

Casualties Unknown.
Another force of British soldiers and police fought an encounter with 200 Arabs at Meskha, near Nazareth. The Arabs were repelled late last night, carrying off their wounded. The number of casualties was not determined.

One of the hottest spots was the town of Gaza where British families took refuge in the police station—once the headquarters of Napoleon—while rioters erected barricades and stoned the police, forcing them to fire.

Troops occupied the Gaza railroad station to prevent sabotage. All telephone and telegraph wires were cut, communications with Jerusalem being maintained by radio.

SUPREME COURT WILL DECIDE ON UTILITIES TAX

Chicago, May 26.—(AP)—Held unconstitutional in a Cook county Circuit court decision, the Illinois 3 per cent sales tax on gross receipts of municipally-owned public utilities was headed today for a hearing in the state Supreme Court.

Aids of the Attorney General fell over the Downs for several hours yesterday.

hastened to prepare an appeal and petitions for writs of supersedeas to keep impounded $275,000 which the city of Chicago has paid under protest since the act providing for the tax was passed last June 27.

Circuit Judge Walter LaBuy, ruling yesterday in a case in which the city of Chicago and 176 other municipal corporations challenged the act, held that it violated provisions of the state Constitution guaranteeing uniformity and equality in taxation.

Attorney Thomas A. Matthews, representing the Illinois Municipal League, said that in his opinion the decision also would affect public utilities owned by private capital. Judge LaBuy said he would issue a permanent injunction to prevent collection of the tax by the state. Temporary injunctions were issued by the Circuit Court last Nov. 12.

A. J. Hory of Harlingen, Tex., harvested 25 tons of cabbage from two acres of ground.

Thirty-eight per cent of Kansas counties increased tax levies this year for relief purposes.

Robert Yant, Burlington, Ia., high school senior, has suffered a broken collar bone five times.

BARN NORTHWEST OF HARMON FUEL FOR FLAMES SAT.

Farm Wife Rescued Two Draft Horses From Building

Fire destroyed a $2,500 barn, 18 tons of straw, several corn plows and miscellaneous tools Saturday evening at 8:10 o'clock on the Ernest Schleuter farm, northwest of Harmon. A large barn containing a number of horses, cows and other livestock, not 40 yards distant, escaped the flames, due to the fact that the first barn fell in before sparks reached it and to the efforts of more than 100 neighbors who dashed buckets of water on it.

Woman Saved Horses.

Mrs. Earl Seidel saved two fine farm draft horses from the flames by dashing into the fiery building, untangling their halters and leading them out. Her hands were badly rope-burned as she struggled to get the frightened animals outside to safety. The end of an empty corn crib almost adjoining the barn was burned, but the neighbors with their bucket brigade saved the building. The fire was discovered by a Mr. Douglas, representing an artificial limb company in Chicago, who had called to complete an order for Mr. Seidel, who lost a leg last year. As he was leaving the house, he remarked, "You are going to have a lot of company now; your barn is on fire." Mrs. Seidel rushed to save the horses in the burning building. Neighbors were attracted by the blaze and in a few minutes there were more than 100 automobiles of people on the place, and most of the men working.

Origin a Mystery.

Origin of the fire is mysterious, as there had been no one in the barn since afternoon. The flames burst out in the northeast corner of the barn. There is some insurance. The farm is tenanted by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Seidel, son-in-law and daughter of the owner. Mr. Schleuter, who is retired and lives in Chicago.

DIXON FARMER IS HONORED AT U. OF ILLINOIS

Won Trophy Noting Ability As Live-stock Judge

A. L. Schick, popular farmer residing on route two Dixon township just south of town, was recently the recipient of a signal honor at the University of Illinois where he is attending agricultural college, when he was awarded the Thomas E. Wilson trophy for being the best all-around livestock judge.

Says "Prairie Farmer" agricultural magazine in noting Schick's achievement:

"Honest, clear organized thinking on the part of farmers and young people who are training themselves for agricultural careers is needed to form sound judgment on agricultural questions and distinguish between propaganda and facts," asserted Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association before a capacity crowd of students and faculty of the College of Agriculture at the "All-Ag" banquet held recently in Champaign.

Connected With Farm Problems

"Unemployment, still a major concern of the nation, is directly connected with the farm problem and will only be eliminated to the extent that the farm problem is honestly and completely solved. People in the city already are beginning to see that their food supply, their shelter, their income, their employment and, in fact, their entire welfare are related to prices of farm products. They have more at stake than the farmer because the farmer and his family will be the last to go hungry or to lose the roof over their heads," he said.

Until farmers get a fair price for their products they cannot buy the products of industry and thereby put men back to work producing these products, he explained.

Many Prizes Awarded
Bullstuffs, alarm clocks, watches, desk sets and numerous other trophies were awarded to over 150 agricultural students, winners in judging of livestock, grain, dairy products, poultry, meat, floriculture production and for oratory. The occasion marked the grand finale of agricultural students' activities for the present school year.

The leading winners as they appear in the picture below are:

A. L. Schick, who won the coveted Thomas E. Wilson trophy for being the best all-around livestock judge is a senior and is working his way through college. "My flock of sheep which I started when a vocational agriculture student and 4-H member along with the work I am doing here is keeping me in school." His home is on a farm near Dixon, Ill., where he attended high school and secured his first training in judging under the guidance of John N. Weiss. In 1928 he was a member of the state champion vocational agriculture team which also placed first in both the national vocation and 4-H meat judging contests.

Not being satisfied with those honors Schick went out for the dairy team and was a member of the 1929 state champion vocational agriculture dairy team.

LEE COUNTY CORN ACREAGE RISING

Electrification Of Farms Also Progressing

Rural electrification is proceeding steadily in the eastern part of Lee county in Willow Creek, Alto and Wyoming townships.

Preifer brothers have been having their farm buildings wired for electricity during the past week in anticipation of getting electric service from the new service line that is to run west from the Mofatt school. It is now expected that this new electric line will be completed and in full operation by July 1.

Available information seems to show conclusively that a somewhat larger acreage of corn is being planted in Lee county this spring than has been planted for several years past and the condition is true over the entire corn belt.

Predict 25c Corn
Some Lee county farmers who take the loss of the corn-hog program seriously are now predicting twenty-five cent corn as a result by the time another crop is on the market. Many things must be considered in making predictions for future corn prices, such as seed weather, the supply and price of livestock and many other factors.

In the meantime American farmers are urged to prevent the importation of corn into the country at any price and to supply their own market for corn in order to free themselves of price worries.

OGLE BUREAU TO MEET IN OREGON

Annual Business To Be Discussed On June Second

An annual meeting of the Ogle county farm bureau will be held at the Oregon Coliseum, Tuesday, June 2, for the reading of reports and other general business.

Program details have not yet been arranged but the committee is working on a program which will be announced later. A session for ladies will be held at the Presbyterian church in the morning. On the Coliseum lawn and in the basement, picnic lunches will be held as in the past, each family to bring their own dishes, and food.

It is hoped considerable interest will be shown in the farm bureau meeting and a large attendance is being prepared for. Farm bureau directors in each township are elected by the members in the township and should be chosen before the date of the annual meeting. At a recent conference of directors, dates were set for a number of township meetings which will be held the remainder of this month. The meetings will be held to discuss soil conservation, rural electrification, improved farm bureau services, and music and entertainment will be given by local talent.

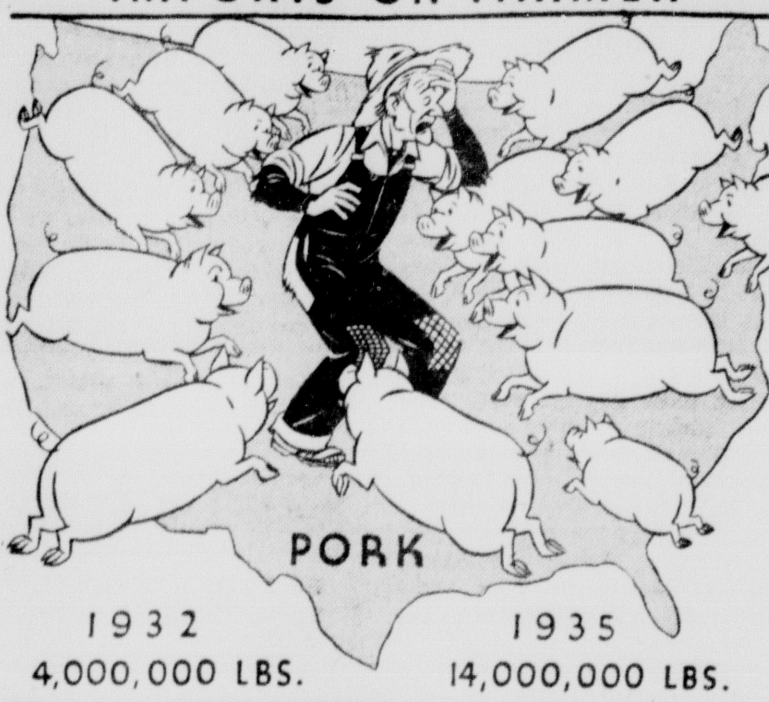

New directors take office June 1, four to be chosen to serve with the three elected county officers to constitute the executive board of seven members.

HOW NEW DEAL IS FORCING IMPORTS ON FARMER

THE POLICY of the Roosevelt Administration through its planned scarcity has brought an influx of live hogs and pork products from foreign countries, especially Canada, to the detriment of the American farmer.

In 1932, we imported 29,000 pounds of live hogs; in 1935, 3,414,317 pounds.

In 1932, we imported 4,055,000 pounds of all kinds of pork; in 1935, 13,908,176 pounds.

In the first three months of 1935, this country imported 1,137,214 pounds of all pork including live hogs, valued at $240,515, as compared with 10,219,289 pounds of all pork including live hogs, valued at $1,842,328, for the same period in 1936, or 10 times greater, while live hogs alone for the first three months of 1936 over a similar period in 1935 were 100 times greater.

Conference Held To Improve Lee's Farmers' Returns

How to improve the farmers' returns for livestock in Lee county and other Illinois counties was the subject of two recent conferences in Chicago and Champaign, reports the Illinois Agricultural Association. Leaders of the Producer Commission Associations on the terminal markets met with the management and officials of the Illinois Livestock Marketing Association in the Chicago meeting. Leaders of the downstate district co-operative livestock groups, and interested County Farm Bureau officials met at Champaign. Better co-ordination of co-operative livestock marketing through local and terminal agencies, together with ways and means of improving the farmers' bargaining power, was the object sought in both sessions.

SHERIFF MILLER SPEAKER AT NELSON CLUB MEET

Denounced Rural Crime Prevention Commission as Useless

"Crooked politicians, who are responsible largely for the crime conditions today, are Public Enemies No. 1," Sheriff Ward Miller told members of the Nelson Community club at their regular monthly meeting last evening at the Cook school, which was filled to its capacity. "Criminals and violators when apprehended, appeal first to political friends for assistance and through this channel many gain quick freedom and evade the sentences which they deserve."

Sheriff Miller spoke of crime in the rural communities of Illinois and denounced the Rural Crime Prevention commission as being of no value to the farmer and its sole purpose being the upbuilding of a large organization to be used for political purposes. He referred to an incident in Lee county about four weeks ago in which a truck load of hogs were hijacked and two men kidnapped and said:

"The Illinois commission for crime prevention in rural communities offered no assistance or suggestion, and the services of this organization were not solicited. The large part of the property was recovered and four men connected with the case are under arrest and others will be taken soon, through the cooperation of sheriffs and the diligence of the Lee county officials through the assistance of Sheriff Ralph Goar of Tazewell county and department of justice agents, who were summoned on the case, brought quick results."

Sheriff Miller spoke of the civil service system in all police departments, stating that police departments should be entirely divorced from politics to increase the efficiency of the officers in the enforcement of all laws. Civil service in police systems, he said, prevents the department members from being obligated to officials and politicians in the performance of their duties.

He also called attention to the modern advances in combating crime and commended the Lee county board of supervisors for providing the latest equipment for use in the sheriff's office.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

In the mail the other morning was a letter from a friend in Texas who said they had been having roasting ears from their own garden. At the same time I received the government figures on poultry and eggs.

They both made me realize that this is a big country and that to get the true picture of any situation we must know what is happening beyond the horizon. We can't assume there aren't any roasting ears just because we don't have them in our gardens. And we can't assume that fewer chickens are being produced just because we aren't raising as many ourselves.

These government figures are startling!

Last year, compared with five years ago, a fourth less eggs were produced in Kansas, a fifth less in Iowa and Indiana. In fact, practically every state in the Middle West produced fewer eggs than they did five years ago.

East Produces More Eggs
And in the meantime, Massachusetts increased its egg production 33 per cent, New Hampshire 25 per cent, and Connecticut 20 per cent!

The same census showed 12 per cent less poultry is being raised in Iowa, for example, than was raised five years ago. And 14 per cent less in Kansas.

But in Delaware they are raising 80 per cent more poultry than they were five years ago! And the New England states show about the same increase in the amount of poultry raised as in the number of eggs produced.

Our eastern friends have found out that raising poultry is profitable!

Certainly if they can buy most of the feed and still make a profit on their poultry, they must do it by business-like methods of management. We, here in the Middle West, with our own grain to feed the chickens, are being given competition by other sections of the country.

There is no use in our ignoring the fact.

We'd better recognize it and not lose any time in improving our ways of managing our flocks!

Sincerely yours,
Frank Pribe

FIGHT MOTHS AS SUMMER COMES ON HOUSEWIVES

Farmers' Wives Told To Arrest Larvae Development

Lee county housewives are advised to protect clothing against moths through a bulletin issued from Mary C. Whitlock home economics expert and received by Farm Adviser C. E. Yale.

"If a moth, little or big, is flying around your light, you need not stir out of your chair to snatch wildly at it. That is the wrong kind of a moth. But if you are dusting around and see a little buff colored moth scuttling along after you, have disturbed her hiding place, that is the time to move fast," Miss Whitlock said.

Larvae of the carpet beetle are just as destructive and as numerous as the larvae of the moth. The beetle about one-eighth inch long and can often be seen on screens or window ledges about to escape outdoors. The carpet beetle larvae like the same kind of food as does the clothes moth larvae.

Become Concerned

Pointing out that that is the season to become concerned about such pests, Miss Whitlock recommends naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene for both larvae. The crystals have a clean odor which does not cling to clothing. They also can be given any odor by adding a few drops of a favorite perfume. One pound of crystals are required for each 12 cubic feet of storage space.

Clothing, blankets and furs should be clean when stored for the summer, Miss Whitlock warned. Care should be taken to make sure no moth or larvae are in them. The articles should then be wrapped in good, strong paper with crystals in the bundles and then sealed with gummed paper. If a trunk is used for storage, the crystals should be put on top so that the fumes go down through the textiles.

COOPERATIVE CREAMERIES HIRE OMMODT

B. J. Ommodt, an experienced creamery man and butter grader from Minneapolis, Minn., started work last week for the eight producers co-operative creameries, the Illinois Agricultural Association said today in a statement to the Lee County Farm Bureau.

Mr. Ommodt was employed the last six years by the Land O'Lakes Creameries. Previous to that time he operated a co-operative creamery. He is taking over the work of C. O. Tuttle who will be confined in the hospital at Peoria another six weeks as a result of a serious automobile accident.

"Regular grading and inspection made available at cost by the government is largely responsible for the high quality butter we are making in our eight Prairie Farms plants," J. B. Countiss, sales manager of Illinois Producers' Creameries, declared. "The percentage of 91 and 92 score butter manufactured in the co-operative plants has increased consistently. Quality improvement of cream is being stressed among the patrons who own and control these plants. Farmers take more interest in this work when they own and operate the business themselves."

HEAVY SHOWERS BENEFIT NEWLY PLANTED CORN

Central, Northern Illinois Soaked Over Week-end

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—Heavy showers during the week-end dispelled fears of central and northern Illinois farmers that the young corn crop would get away to a bad start because of a lack of moisture.

Early planted corn had been reported suffering from dry surface soil while other field crops were declared to have made good growth although general rains were needed to maintain the development. More than an inch of rain since Saturday was recorded in Springfield.

The federal and state departments of agriculture in a joint report today said that at the close of last week about 85 per cent of this year's corn crop was planted, contrasted with 26 per cent of the crop in the ground on the same day last year because of continued wet weather.

A. J. Surratt, U. S. agricultural statistician, said that some poor stands of corn were reported because of a low grade of seed. He said conditions were favorable to the winter wheat crop except in some areas in southern Illinois where it has been too dry.

Illinois farm real estate values were reported to have increased for the third successive year, while income from marketings of principal farm products was declared to be steadily rising, with the income in March showing a seven per cent over February. The total income for the first three months this year was reported to be $92,967,000, an increase of 27 per cent over the corresponding period of 1935.

"252 miles to the gallon is how I figure it with Red Crown"

...crows—Lester Longbow

Mr. Lester Longbow, a prominent resident of Dixon, R. R. 6, is known throughout the state for his untiring efforts in behalf of the Tall Stories Club.

"Y' see, I was to be speaker o' the evening at the annual Grange dinner over to Dixon Forks. I got all tied up, sorta late, and then found the datted car was out o' gas—and Dixon Forks all o' four miles away."

"Well, my wife had an idea. 'Wait'll I get that little bottle o' gas I got from the Standard Oil Station to kill the ants with,' says she."

"I lowed as how it was foolish, but we'd try it. So she brought out a little 2-ounce bottle and we dumped the Standard Red Crown it held into the gas tank. I started off, figuring mebbe I'd make a hundred rod."

"But I got past the next farm—and the next—in lore I knew it there I was in front o' the Grange with the motor still runnin'."

"Figure it out for yourself... four miles worth o' distance on two ounces o' Red Crown. That's 252 miles to the gallon. That's mileage, mister!... Eh?... Sure, the whole Grange is using Red Crown now."

We think Standard Red Crown is good, too, but we refuse to be taken in by Lester's vivid report. It's not THAT good.

With "more live power per gallon," Standard Red Crown operates with less waste power per gallon. With it you can be sure of as long mileage per gallon as with any regular-priced gasoline you can buy—if not longer.

But rather than make claims, Standard prefers to make it easy for motorists to find out the real facts about gasoline mileage for themselves.

Summer Boxing Program Begins Thursday Evening

DAVENPORT'S C. Y. O. BOXERS ARE BOOKED

Promoter Hooker Plans Several Good Cards

Summer boxing at the Dixon airport hangar will get underway at 8:30 P. M. sharp Thursday night, it was announced Monday, the opening card bringing the Davenport C. Y. O. team here to battle with popular opponents of the city under the auspices of the Dixon Athletic Association.

The card will be seven bouts in length, three at least of which will be five rounds long. Several promising newcomers will be seen on the card who indicate they will be in the running for Golden Gloves honors later in the season. Many of the fighters have been seen on Sterling's popular Coliseum bouts this winter.

Several Strong Boxers

The Davenport C. Y. O. team has several strong experienced boxers of Olympic reputation, among them being Frank Nelson and Elwood McReynolds. The latter's reputation is known here. Nelson recently defeated Milt Schriver in Olympic boxing trials at Chicago.

The first bout of the evening will pair Kid Loan of Ohio, a promising youngster, against Henry Fuent, Mexican flash in the 135 pound division. Loan is attracting considerable attention around Ohio. Roy Akeridge of Rock Falls will clash at 155 pounds against Frank Lopez. Akeridge has been fighting on Sterling's cards and is a great prospect for a green youngster.

"He is one of the greatest prospects for ring activity I have seen in years," said Ed Hooker, local promoter, Monday.

Stunkle vs. Hantz

Maurice Stunkle of Steward, popular welterweight boxer here, will clash with Pete Hantz at 147 pounds, and his shift brother Bernard Stunkle meets Eddie Dempsey at 126 pounds. Dempsey is a Golden Gloves champion. George Nelson from Chicago is matched with Sam Karben, the "Capering Clown" from Moline at 140 lbs. Karben became very popular here with his slapstick give-and-take style last summer. Karben never won by any knockouts but he snorted around the ring like a wild bull of the pampas much to the amusement of his audience.

Walt Warmich of Peoria will meet Louis Viscioni of Moline at 147 pounds, and in the feature match Kenny Lottman from Peoria weighing 112 will clash with Bud Peterson, Golden Gloves 112 pound title winner. Lottman and Peterson have met twice before each having won a battle, so the contest Thursday will be the third and deciding encounter. Lottman went to the Cleveland Olympic trials before meeting defeat and Peterson was also an Olympic trials finalist.

Boxing programs are planned at the airport every two weeks this summer conditioned of course by the interest shown in the matches here.

ONE AMERICAN SURVIVES ST. ANDREWS TEST

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 26. —(AP)—Elimination today in the second round of Ellis Knowles of Rye, N. Y., and John Arthur Brown of Philadelphia left one American survivor in the British amateur golf championship.

Knowles was the first to pass out of the picture, missing a two foot putt on the 20th hole to lose to Eric Prain Brown was beaten 4 and 3 by the veteran British internationalist, Leonard Crawley.

The lone surviving overseas player, from an original group of six Americans, was Theodore Bassett of Rye, N. Y. He was scheduled to meet Ian Sutherland in a delayed second round match today.

Capt. G. R. B. Stevens registered a surprise when he defeated Lister Hartley, former Walker Cup player and a semi-finalist in the 1926 championship, 2 and 1.

Dr. William Tweedell, who carried Lawson Little of California to the 36th hole in last year's final round, gained the third round with a 2 and 1 victory over C. Rissak. Dr. Tweedell, a former champion, was named captain of Britain's 1936 Walker Cup team yesterday.

BOLD VENTURE'S INJURY THROWS RACE WIDE OPEN

Belmont Stakes Will Be Held June 6th; Four Contenders

New York, May 26.—(AP)—The race for three-year-old turf honors was a wide open affair again today as a result of the injury which has placed Morton L. Schwartz's Bold Venture on the sidelines for the remainder of the year.

The winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness bowed a tendon in right foreleg yesterday while working out at Belmont Park. Although the bow was not a bad one, Trainer Max Hirsch declared there was no chance of getting the son of St. Germans back to the races this year.

"It's just one of the misfortunes of racing," declared Hirsch who did a fine job of conditioning Bold Venture for his Derby and Preakness victories. "Naturally it's a hard blow to take but there's nothing we can do about it."

Bold Venture was being prepped for the June 6 running of the $50,000 Belmont stakes, in which he was slated to defend his laurels against other leading contenders for the three year old crown, including Brevity, Granville, Red Rain and White Cockade.

Bold Venture's Tragedy.
The mile and one-half stakes figured to be the race of the year. Bold Venture had beaten Brevity by a head in the Derby; whipped Granville by a nose in the Preakness and White Cockade had taken the measure of Brevity in the Withers mile.

Although Bold Venture generally was thought to be unsound, Hirsch declared today he was "very sound," but he never took a lame step or showed any indications of it until last week.

"I noticed a slight swelling then, but was not sure. The fever was there but it went away and the swelling passed. He appeared perfectly sound this morning but when he returned from his work there was the same slight swelling and the fever. A more thorough examination showed that he had bowed."

'OLD MEN' HAVE GOOD DAYS IN MAJOR LOOPS

Men Over 30 Still Spry When Sun is Shining

By SCOTTY RESTON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
One foot on the bench and the other in the minors; the old men will come back on sunny days.

Consider a few of them. Charlie Grimm of the Cubs, aged 36; Kiki Cuyler, Reds, 36; Ethan Allen, Cubs, 32; Red Lucas, Pirates, 32; Heinie Manush, Red Sox, 34; Bob Grove, Red Sox, 36; Bill Terry, Giants, 37 and a few more, like Sam Leslie, Giants, or Fred Ostermuller, Red Sox, who are getting near the age when baseball players are considered old men.

Yesterday in the majors, the old boys had a reunion. Lucas, once the pride of Redland Field, went back there with the Pirates and pitched a four-hit ball game against the Reds to win 9 to 2.

Ostermuller, the much-discussed question-mark of the Red Sox pitching staff, did the same against the Senators and Boston won, 6-0, to cut the Yankees margin to one and one-half games.

Leslie, who made five hits in five times at bat against the Phillies Sunday, gave the Giants a 1 to 0 victory over the same club by banging out a home run, and Ripper Collins, condemned to the bench by the excellent play of young Johnny Mize, won a ball game for the Cards when he came up out of the dugout in the ninth and hit a pinch single to give the Cards a 2-1 win over the Cubs.

Decides Pitching Duel
Leslie's homer decided a pitching duel between Al Smith and Joe Bowman. Lefty Al allowed five hits while Bowman limited the Giants to four safe blows. Collins' blow enabled the Cards to keep their half-game margin over the Giants in their battle for the National League leadership.

Even Grimm, who counted himself out of the game last year, was back in their yesterday and got a double and a single in three times up, while Allen, who was battered away at the waiver price several years ago because he had to wear a back support, made three of the ten hits made of Paul Dean.

Youngsters held forth in the other two games, however. Lee Ross, 19-year-old rookie from the North Carolina Textile league, pitched the Athletics to a 10-7 victory over the Yankees after the A's had taken three straight trouncings and Johnny Lanning, rookie Boston Bees' hurler, blanked the Dodgers 8-0.

Diamond Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Jim Collins, Cards—His pinch single in the ninth with the bases loaded gave the Cards a 2-1 victory over the Cubs.

Sam Leslie, Giants—He hit homer in the fourth to give the New Yorkers a 1-0 victory over the Phils.

Johnny Lanning, Bees—This rookie held Dodgers to seven hits, shut them out, 8-0, and hit a homer.

Red Lucas, Pirates—Held the Reds to four hits and beat his old teammates, 9-2.

Fred Ostermuller, Red Sox—Pitched four-hitter against Senators to win, 6-0.

Wally Moses, A's—Led team with three hits, one, a homer, to beat Yankees 10-7.

DIXON AWARDED TROPHY WON IN 1929, SATURDAY

N. C. I. Golf Tourney At Mendota, Tennis Meet in Dixon

Roscoe Eades of Sterling township high school was elected president of the North Central Illinois conference at a meeting held at DeKalb on Saturday. C. A. Ellis of Rochelle was elected vice president, and E. O. Hoppe of DeKalb was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Considerable business was transacted at the meeting. Mendota formerly forfeited the unplayed basketball games to Dixon and this gave the Dixon reserves a joint share with Sterling township reserves in the championship of the "B" division. Both will receive trophies. The Dixon heavies were officially voted the champions in basketball. In 1929 Rochelle was awarded the championship in the heavyweight division and received a cup. Later it developed that Draper was ineligible and as Dixon was then declared the winner a cup was voted for Dixon at this time although six seasons have passed.

Mendota was awarded the conference golf tournament, June 6, and Dixon was awarded the conference tennis tournament for the same day. E. A. Bowers of Sterling will be in charge again. The date may be changed and notice to this effect will be announced later.

MIZE LOOMS AS CHIEF RIVAL OF JOE DI MAGGIO

St. Louis, May 25.—(AP)—Slugging Johnny Mize, magna cum laude graduate of the St. Louis Cardinal chain gang, today loomed as the chief rival of Joe Di Maggio, prize package of the New York Yankees, for first honors in the 1936 major league rookie derby.

The fleet "Di Mag" has had most of the fanfare and fan mail so far, but the hefty Cardinal recruit first baseman has edged into the spotlight in recent weeks in the successful drive by Frankie Frisch and his gentle followers to top the National league.

Mize's present .347 batting clip, although substantially below the .385 mark currently registered by the American league's newest hitting machine, is far from puny in any circuit. And Johnny, if he connects with the ball less often, knocks it considerably farther than the Yankee wonder boy.

The powerful 23-year-old Redbird, who has hit safely in the last 11 games, is one of those rare players who apparently can biff an extra-base blow as nonchalantly as a single. In 28 games he has a total of 67 bases on 34 hits. The record includes 10 doubles, 4 triples and five home runs.

His prowess at the plate and a fielding average of .991 have raised rumors in the Cardinal nest that their latest fledgling, who replaced Jim "the Ripper" Collins after the veteran suffered a hitting slump, will be a permanent fixture in the lineup.

COURT TO RULE ON PWA UTILITY PROJECTS SOON

Decision on New Deal
Proposal Expected During the Week

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—Chief Justice Alfred A. Wheat of the District of Columbia Supreme Court is expected to rule this week on the constitutionality of one of the New Deal's most far-reaching activities—a $200,000,000 public power program financed by the public works administration.

He will hear final arguments today in an injunction suit brought by four utility companies, which ask an order forbidding PWA to finance ten municipal electric plants in Alabama, Texas, Oklahoma, and Iowa.

Newton D. Baker will present a final plea for the power companies. Jerome Frank of the administration's legal staff will sum up arguments for the government.

Frank has intimated that he hopes to carry this case to the Supreme Court for a final ruling on PWA power developments.

Virtually all the 85 electric projects approved by PWA have been tied up by injunction proceedings.

On Three Grounds

The utility lawyers have challenged the PWA power program on three major grounds:

1. That the 1935 relief act is unconstitutional. Attorney Dean Acheson described it as "a vague and hurried piece of legislation," which gives the president "almost unlimited power to spend $4,800,000,000 as he sees fit."

2. That even if the act is held valid, the power projects do not comply with its terms. Acheson said no comprehensive plan of public works, such as the law requires, has ever been drafted.

3. That the power companies will be fatally injured by government competition. "The government," he can be repaid only by taking business away from private industry," Acheson declared.

RFC Man Accused Of Attempting To Dismember Road

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—A representative of the Reconstruction Corporation was accused before a Senate committee Monday of organizing a proposal to sell and dismember the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway to protect the interests of Frederick Prince, Boston financier.

The accusation was made by James F. McElwee, Peoria, Ill., president of the Lake Erie Manufacturing & Mining Company. He named John Barriger, of the Chicago office, as the RFC representative.

McElwee read into the record a letter he had written in April 1932, recounting a conversation in which he quoted Barriger as saying he was "looking out for Prince's interest."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

"TREASURE ISLAND"

ALMOST annually, expeditions leave for a small, uninhabited island in the Pacific, 300 miles off Costa Rica, and dig for gold bullion and other treasures that pirates are supposed to have buried there between 200 and 300 years ago. It is Cocos Island, named so because of the great number of coconuts that grow wild there.

Here Spanish and Portuguese pirates, who looted the rich towns along the South American coast are believed to have landed and left their riches before being captured. Here in recent years have come scores of expeditions. They have dug up the shore and inland even more completely than have the wild pigs that inhabit it. All however, have returned empty-handed, and the secret of Cocos remains with it.

Early in 1936, Costa Rica issued a set of stamps, each showing a map of this island.

'Doctor' Takes New Disguise

You might never recognize him as the man who played the "Country Doctor," but it's really Jean Hersholt, famous character actor, cleverly disguised for a new role. His bushy hair was plastered down to accommodate the wig, cologne sprayed over strips of tissue held down his lower eyelids to give him the appearance of old age, then came layers of grease paint and the artificial beard. He couldn't blink an eye or crack a smile.

Negro Transient is Dead in Rail Wreck

Champaign, Ill., May 26.—(AP)—An unidentified negro transient was killed Monday in the wreck of a westbound 18-car freight train on the Wabash railroad near Sidney, Ill. His body was found in a water-filled ditch along the roadway after the plunging cars had torn up more than 700 feet of main line track. Four other transients and the train crew escaped injury.

A broken truck was believed to have caused the wreck. Railroad officials began an investigation.

New Commander for Sixth Corps Area is Nemed Monday

Washington, May 26.—(AP)—The war department issued orders Monday assigning Major General Charles E. Kilbourne, now commanding the Second division at Fort Sam Houston, to command the Sixth Corps Area at Chicago effective on June 1.

He will succeed Major General Johnson Hagood, who recently retired from active duty at his own request after being disciplined for criticizing works progress spending.

Kilbourne, a veteran of 38 years in the army, returned only a few months ago from the Philippines where he served a year as commander of the harbor defenses of Manila Bay.

He holds all the principal American decorations, including the Congressional Medal of Honor, for distinguished services in both the World War and the Philippine insurrection.

As commander in Chicago, he will direct the important maneuvers to be held in that corps area late this summer, by the second army. Officers say these maneuvers, designed to stimulate war-time conditions, will bring together the greatest peace time force ever mobilized in this country.

LET DAUGHTER SHOW HER SKILL AS FAMILY COOK

It is not only a rest for mother when she turns over the evening meal to her young daughter but a pleasure as well as a good lesson for the daughter. That is, it is a pleasure if there has been some careful menu planning before the special dinner. It is quite important that the meals which the daughter is allowed to prepare are, at first quite simple so that failures won't loom up to discourage her right at the outset. Then, too, the recipes must be interesting.

For instance, can you imagine a youngster who wouldn't enjoy preparing Stuffed Frankfurters?

It might be well to give her some assistance the first few times by preparing the dessert and perhaps the salad before turning the kitchen over for her reign. That will leave only the few hot dishes for her to prepare. Let your daughter try her culinary skill with some of these suggested recipes. You won't have any trouble arousing her interest and eager co-operation in these schemes if you plan the meal

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GAIL EVERETT, winner of the John S. Lorne costume design prize, comes to New York to find work. Gail's parents are both dead. She has spent the past three years at MISS CRANSTON'S fashionable school for girls—due to Miss Cranston's generosity and friendship for Gail's mother.

Armed with a letter from Lorne, Gail goes to his office and is told he is out of town. HERB HARGREAVES, an artist, overhears this conversation and offers to help Gail. He advises her to go to MADAME LIZETTE'S shop to apply for a job.

Gail arrives there just after temperamental Madame Lizette has learned her designer has gone to Hollywood. Gail gets the job and goes to work next morning. Her lunch hour is cut short and she is hurrying back to the shop when, just ahead, a young man steps from an automobile.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V

THE young man snapped the door of the car shut. He took a step forward and suddenly stopped. "Gail Everett, or I miss my guess!" he exclaimed.

"Why, Dick—Dick Searies!" Gail caught his outstretched hand. "Where in the world did you come from?"

"That's what I should be asking you," the young man said. "We're down on Long Island now, but you're quite a distance from North Carolina."

"Oh, I left Merrywood Hall a day or so ago."

"Rosemary hasn't written me about it. She hasn't been writing home much lately."

"Well, she's busy with examinations. Besides school is going to be over soon. Lucille and some of the others have left already."

"What about you? Did you run away from Merrywood?" Dick's eyes held a caressing look. Then suddenly he grew serious. "You haven't eloped, by any chance?" he demanded, his hand on her arm.

"Oh, Dick! What crazy things you say! I've got a job right on this street—at Madame Lizette's. Oh!" she glanced quickly at her wrist watch. "I must run. It's five minutes to one and she'll fire me if I'm a second late."

"All right, hop in the bus and I'll take you along. But when am I going to see you again?"

"I don't know, Dick. I'm a working girl now—and punch a time clock every time I go in and out."

DICK made a wry face. "What's the idea, Gail? I don't get it. You know, sweet, you don't have to work. My offer still holds. Marry me and see the world."

"Careful, Dicky!" Gail's eyes were twinkling. "I might take you up on that."

"Oh, Hon, that's what I want you to do. I hate to think of you working in a place like that. How soon do I see you again? What time do you leave this joint?"

"At 5 o'clock!"

"Fine. I'll meet you and drive you home. Dad and the Mater will be tickled to see you."

Gail shook her head. She wanted to go, but she dared not accept this impetuous invitation. A look of dejection spread across Dick's face. Then he smiled. "Maybe you'd prefer a week-end? Do you work Saturdays?"

"But when am I going to see you again?" Dick asked.

"Yes, till 5 o'clock."

"Well, I'll call for you at Madame's, or if you'd prefer I'll stop at your home—wherever that may be."

"All right then. Here's the address of the clubhouse." Gail scribbled it on a scrap of paper. "It's five minutes past one. I must fly."

"I'll wait to see if the dame throws you out," Dick called as Gail raced toward the employees' entrance.

"Don't!" she answered, with head averted so that she did not see the cynical smile that leaped into the eyes of a tall, blond-haired girl who walked briskly toward the car.

HASTILY slipping her things into their locker, Gail dabbed at her face with her powder puff, patted back the curling ends of her hair, and darted from the dressing room.

"Mees E-verett, Mees E-verett," shrielled Madame Lizette.

"I'm here," answered Gail. "Have you prepared those sketches for me?"

"Yes, here they are," Gail watched, with trembling lips, while Madame's beady brown eyes appraised them.

"Too simple—altogether too simple. How could a lady like Mrs. Travers wear them? Tch! She tossed the drawings on Gail's desk.

"But, Madame, Miss Caroline told me you wanted something suitable for a young girl. I'd never dream of using such models for an older woman."

Unmindful of Gail's explanation Madame walked away from her, as though nothing she might say would change her snap opinion of her work.

AN hour later Clytie entered the room. "You don't want Ariadne, do you?"

"No," replied Gail. "That's good, for we've lots of customers and she's needed in the showroom. Mrs. Travers is expected any minute, so if Madame brings her in here, play up to her."

"What do you mean?" questioned Gail.

"Guess I'd better give you the low-down on that. You see Madame is backed by Mrs. Travers, so she thinks it's a good idea to let her get a look at the works now and then. Not that it means a thing to the old lady. She has absolutely no ideas about business, but she's patting herself on the back for being a big shot in the business world."

"But Mrs. Travers doesn't do anything around here, surely?"

"Nothing, but put up the dough! Isn't that enough? You'd think so if you knew what Madame gets from her."

"What's the idea?"

"Oh, it's like this," said Clytie, lighting a cigaret. "Mrs. Travers is one of those neglected wives. The old man trots around with a sporty set—down-and-outers from the 400 who are glad to pocket their pride in exchange for the good times he shows them."

"Money either. Their daughter is ashamed of her parents since they sent her to a swell finishing school, and so Mrs. Travers, who has never caught on in society in spite of her huge contributions to charity and the parties she gives, thinks maybe this is one way of getting publicity."

"I don't see how that would work out—at least so long as the shop is run under Madame's name."

"Oh, well, Madame's made her a director. Just a title, you know, but it pleases the old girl who thinks she's quite on a par with some of the society women who are going in for business instead of bridge."

Gail smiled to herself as she remembered what a surprise Lucille Travers had received when she learned that Rosemary's father was a multimillionaire. Rosemary Searies, accustomed to wealth all her life, was fond of the simple things of life. She never went in for the wild extravagances that some of her schoolmates did. So Lucille, who never took time to go below the surface, had no use for Rosemary Searies.

Then one day when the girls were looking at the morning newspaper she learned that the Roger Searies whose enormous benefactions were listed in its columns, was Rosemary's father. Instantly Lucille's attitude changed, but it made no difference with her schoolmate. Later when Rosemary's brother, Dick, came down to some of the parties, Lucille tried to arouse his interest, but from the minute he met her, Dick had had eyes for no one but Gail.

The door of the designing room opened. "Madame wants those sketches you made this forenoon," said one of the salesgirls.

Board of Education Tells of Need of More Revenue and New School Building

Second Part of Explanatory Statement Presented

Part Two
The second portion of the school program calls for an increase in school revenue in order to employ additional teachers and supervisors.

A grade school class should not exceed 35, whereas fourteen of ours have 35 or more. In the high school a limit of 30 is set by the North Central Association, which is the association that fixes the standards that must be maintained by high schools in order that their pupils may be admitted to colleges and universities without entrance examinations. Our high school average is over 30 and we have been notified that this condition must be remedied by the employment of additional teachers before next year. A comparison of the average number of pupils per teacher in Dixon

as compared with other cities shows the following figures:	No. pupils per teacher	No. Elementary pupils per teacher	No. High School pupils per teacher
Mendota .....	29	18.2
Rochelle .....	25.7	25
Sterling No. 10 .....	26
Sterling No. 11 .....	24.6
Sterling Township .....		20
High school .....		27	19.2
Savanna .....	23.8	18.7
Woodstock .....	27.4	21
Wheaton .....	31	31

In order to relieve over-crowded rooms the logical change will be not to divide the over-crowded rooms into two separate grades, but to take a number of the poorest pupils from several grades and form a so-called ungraded or "opportunity" room. We formerly had several of these rooms, but have been forced to drop all except one.

We have in our grades a deplorably large number of pupils who are not able to keep up with an average class, and who consequently are from one to five years behind the class with which they started. Once they get behind they lose heart, and the only hope for them is careful, personal instruction by a patient teacher. One who already has a class of from 30 to 35 cannot possibly spare sufficient time, and if she does, she is slighting other pupils who are entitled to her attention.

There is also a real need for a high school nurse. We have a grade school nurse at the present time to examine the more than 1400 grade school pupils, but it is impossible for her to cover both the grade schools and the high school with its more than 700 additional pupils. A recent examination of our high school pupils by a nurse working under a Federal WPA Project, has shown in a startling way the need of a high school nurse. Such a nurse would spend a part of her time in teaching classes in first aid and other similar subjects.

We also need a physical education instructor for our high school students. Physical instruction in high school is required by the state. We have not lived up to this requirement and to comply with the state law and for the good of the pupils we should include this feature in the high school.

We also need an assistant for our grade school physical instructor. The amount of work required to visit six grade schools, having an aggregate of more than 1400 pupils, and to give instruction in physical education to all of them is more than one person can possibly handle. There are no teachers either in the grades or in high school who can handle this work in addition to their regular duties. Every high school teacher now has full time teaching schedules and in addition most of them have other school activities which require their time after school hours. Furthermore, the duties of grade and high school teachers require them to spend many extra hours in correcting material submitted by their pupils and in planning the work to follow.

There should also be a penmanship supervisor to install and teach a uniform system of penmanship throughout the grade schools. We had a penmanship supervisor until 1932 at which time the reduction in our income made it necessary to retrench sharply and this was our first step.

The third point in the general plan is the restoration of the salary schedule for teachers, janitors and clerks that prevailed in 1932. A reduction of 15 per cent in all property valuations was made by the Board of Review in 1932 and was followed by a 10 per cent reduction in 1933. This made a total decrease of 25 per cent in taxes over the two-year period. This, of course, reduced the school income so that sharp reductions in school expenses became necessary. Reductions in fixed expenses such as insurance, repairs and so forth being practically impossible, it was necessary to meet the entire reduction by reducing salaries. A reduction of 10 per cent was made and this was followed by a reduction of 5 per cent. The last 5 per cent reduction has been restored and a second 5 per cent increase could be made for a part of next year upon our present income.

The Board feels that the balance of the reduction should be restored. The salary schedule in 1932 was not by any means excessive considering the large number of pupils per teacher. Our teachers spend most of their money here in Dixon and we do not know of any of them who are able to accumulate enough on their present salaries to retire at a reasonable age. Investigation will also show that a large percentage of our teachers are supporting one or more members of their family.

It should be born in mind that most of these changes cannot be made until September 1st, 1937, for the reason that the added income will not be available until next year.

The members of the Board of Education believe that the 1932 salary schedule was reasonable and should be restored. They are all owners of real estate and they will all be obliged to pay their share of any increase in taxes and they would not advocate the increase in salaries if they did not feel that it is justified. Three of them have no children in school at the present time and none of them have children who will attend school in the proposed new grade school building.

DAILY HEALTH

SIGHT CONSERVATION.

Dr. Arthur J. Bedell recently listed a number of facts on sight and its conservation.

When the average person reaches 40, a change takes place in his eyes; a dislike to do near work; a late afternoon or early morning headache; a tendency to hold small objects farther away, and occasionally a blurring of vision.

Correctly fitted glasses permit close application with clear sight and without discomfort. The testing for glasses is a highly technical art, and the one prescribing glasses must also be competent to render an opinion on the patient's general health. A competent eye examination includes a study of the background of this organ, for upon it is charted the graph of progress, including whatever changes life and experience have effected.

If an individual has to change his glasses frequently, this indicates a constitutional or local eye disease. Under these circumstances a thorough examination of the individual, including his personal hygiene and health habits, is indicated.

From time to time the invention of special forms of glasses is reported. A number of these inventions are definitely valuable, but their scope of usefulness is usually limited to rare and uncommon eye conditions. Thus, telescopic lenses and what are called contact glasses are of material value in certain eye conditions, but they cannot be expected ever to take the place of the properly fitted spectacles which those 40 and over frequently require.

The eye is a long-suffering organ. Probably at no time in the history of human experience has it been subjected to as much "close application" as at present. Hence, attention to proper illumination is essential in the conservation of vision. In essence, proper illumination means adequate light, the elimination of glare and the avoidance of working against the light. The object looked at should be seen in reflected light, not against the light.

Haile Selassie Travels Incognito

London, May 26—(AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today relieved the British government of the embarrassing problem of how to receive him by traveling to England incognito.

He is on his way here aboard the British cruiser Capetown from Haifa, Palestine, following his self-exile from Ethiopia in the face of the Italian advance.

The question of receiving him with honors, it was authoritatively stated, was automatically removed by the emperor's action in deciding to come incognito. Normally, any monarch arriving in England is given an elaborate welcome unless he comes incognito.
